

Anders August

Danish screenwriter Anders August has a wealth of experience in major TV shows, feature films and shorts, and is the recipient of Denmark's biggest film award: The Nordisk Film Award.

August graduated as a screenwriter from the National Film School of Denmark in 2007 and started his career by writing the script for the Oscar-nominated short film The Pig (2008). He has since garnered success with feature films including the 2012 Oscar-shortlisted comedy Superclásico (2011), the critically acclaimed A Funny Man (2011), which was the biggest Danish box-office hit that year, and the lauded Summer of '92 (2015). All three films earned him nominations for 'Best Screenplay' at the Robert Festival, as well as nominations for 'Best Film'. For television, August has written for hit series such as Park Road (2009), The Legacy (2014) and Follow the Money (2016). Recently, he has lived and worked in Los Angeles and has written pilots for BBC AMERICA/AMC, and others.

August's latest feature A Fortunate Man, which is based on Nobel prize-winning author Henrik Pontoppidan's 1898 novel Lykke-Per, premiered in August 2018 and has since received outstanding reviews. The project, which also aired as a miniseries on Danish TV 2 in 2019, is the biggest fiction project so far from the Danish broadcasting channel TV 2 and ranks as one of the most ambitious European series to date.
