Frank Kjosås

Norwegian actor Frank Kjosås (b. 1981) is one of today's most interesting and versatile talents in Scandinavia.

Kjosås got his cinematic break in 2008 with House of Fools and Troubled Water, and his unique acting skills has since gotten him cast in significant roles in both films and TV shows, such as the immensely popular and awarded The Heavy Water: Stopping Hitler's Atomic Bomb (2015), Exit (2019-2023) and Halvbroren (2013), for which he won both a Golden Screen and a Golden FIPA for 'Best Actor'.

Kjosås has been widely admired for his chameleon-like acting abilites by critics and viewers alike and praised for his fascinating way of being able to switch expressions from warmth and innocence to threatening coldness in the blink of an eye.

In 2024, Kjosås appeared in multiple film and TV productions, including the Netflix drama Billionaire Island, hailed for its potential to be the Norwegian answer to the hit drama Succession, as well as Havnaa, the highly anticipated Norwegian film inspired by the gripping real-life story of the notorius boxing brothers Erling and Magne Havnaa.

The praised Netflix series Jo Nesbø's Detective Hole premiered in 2026, with Kjosås in a prominent supporting role.
