Jesper Ganslandt

Director and writer Jesper Ganslandt has, since his dynamic debut work Falkenberg Farewell (2006), established himself as one of the most fearless voices in Scandinavian filmmaking.

Falkenberg Farewell was nominated for the prestigious Nordic Council's Film Prize, chosen as Sweden's submission for the Academy Awards, and nominated in several categories at the 2007 Guldbagge Awards, including 'Best Film', 'Best Direction' and 'Best Screenplay'.

The year 2009 saw the premiere of his second feature, The Ape, which received great reviews. Ganslandt was referred to as "a new star director" by The Guardian. In 2018, Ganslandt opened the International Film Festival Rotterdam with Jimmie, a cutting-edge film that shows his unique, psychologically intense and experimental style. Jimmie, which tells the tale of a young refugee boy on the run with his father, was lauded by the press and nominated for 'Best Nordic Film' at the Gothenburg Film Festival. The year 2018 also marked the release of Ganslandt's first English-language feature film Beast of Burden starring Daniel Radcliffe.

Ganslandt is the director of 438 Days, an extraordinary true story about two Swedish journalists who illegally crossed the border between Somalia and Ethiopia. 438 Days premiered in 2019 and has received great praise in the Swedish press.

Ganslandt co-created and directed the incredibly successful Netflix series Snabba Cash (2021) which was praised by viewers and critics alike. The anticipated second season premiered in 2022, also to great reviews.

Most recently, he directed the thriller series Cry Wolf, which premiered in December 2024 on TV4 and was met with fantastic reviews.
